

DEJAN OSTOJIĆ

Member of the Supervisory Board

Joint stock company Elektroprivreda Srbije

Dejan Ostojić, PhD, is an electrical engineer, who has spent most of his career as a lead energy specialist at the World Bank in Washington.

During his 24 years of work at the World Bank, Mr. Ostojić was in charge of development strategy and investment projects in the energy sector in more than 20 countries in Europe and Asia.

Before joining the World Bank in 1998, Mr. Ostojić was a partner and regional manager at Harza Engineering Company, Chicago, USA; Fulbright scholar and guest lecturer at Purdue University, USA, as well as assistant professor at the School of Electrical Engineering, University of Belgrade.

Mr. Ostojić has received several awards for his professional work, including the World Bank President's Award, the International Finance Corporation Corporate Award, and the Fulbright Foundation Award. He has been a speaker at numerous international gatherings and conferences, including the 2015 UN General Assembly meeting on establishing the Sustainable Development Goals.

Married, father of two, fluent in English and Russian, basic-level knowledge of French and Spanish.